Citizens' district councils shall be established within 45 days of any initial designation of a development area by any local planning agency or local legislative body, except that regarding any development area or development plan in effect as of the effective date of this act, the citizens' district council shall be established within 90 days of the effective date of this act.

125.75a Rehabilitation of blighted areas; urban renewal plat.

Sec. 5a. Where, pursuant to the development of a project, disposition of acquired lands in accordance with the development plan is hampered by reason of the size or character of the lots or tracts of land within the development area, and where diversification of ownership within the development area prohibits redesign by means of a proprietor's plat, the municipality, by action of its governing body, may authorize a plat or replat of the area or any part thereof to be made by a registered civil engineer or a registered land surveyor.

The plat shall be prepared, approved and recorded as provided in Act No. 172 of the Public Acts of 1929, as amended, being sections 560.1 to 560.80 of the Compiled Laws of 1948, except that the certificate of the county and city treasurer relating to tax titles and tax liens shall not be required, and in lieu of the signature of the proprietor of the land the dedication shall be signed by the director of urban renewal or by the administrative officer of the municipality and shall refer to this act as the authority for certification. There shall be set forth in the title of the plat the words "urban renewal plat" or "urban renewal replat". Unplatted and previously platted lands may be included in the same plat, and such plat shall supersede all previously recorded plats in the area covered by the urban renewal plat or urban renewal replat.

All lands within the development area, whether publicly or privately owned, may be included in the urban renewal plat or urban renewal replat, and all land so platted shall be divided into lots and be numbered in accordance with the development plan, except that no lot shall include property in both public and private ownership, nor in 2 or more individual private ownerships, unless such division is of a lot in a recorded subdivision which was so divided prior to the making of the urban renewal plat or urban renewal replat.

The plat or replat shall state in the dedication that necessary rights to all highways, streets, alleys and public places, including parks, green belts and buffer strips, have been acquired by the municipality by purchase, dedication, condemnation or adverse possession for public use, prior to the making of the urban renewal plat or urban renewal replat.

All easements retained by the municipality for the development of the project shall be designated on the urban renewal plat or urban renewal replat and become a part thereof.

An urban renewal plat or urban renewal replat shall conform in all respects to the urban renewal project plan for the area in which said plat or replat may be located. An urban renewal plat or urban renewal replat, when approved by the governing body where the lands are located, shall not be rejected for the reason that any lot shown thereon fails to meet minimum requirements as to width as prescribed by Act No. 172 of the Public Acts of 1929, as amended.

An urban renewal plat or urban renewal replat, when recorded and filed, shall be treated in respect to assessment, return of taxes and sale of lands for delinquent taxes and for all other purposes, the same as if made by the proprietor under the general provisions of Act No. 172 of the Public Acts of 1929, as amended.

Payment of the bonds or notes both as to principal and interest, may be further secured by a pledge of any loan, grant or contribution due or to become due from the federal government or other source, in aid of any projects of the municipality under this act. Bonds or notes issued under this section shall not constitute an indebtedness within the meaning of any constitutional, statutory or charter debt limitation or restriction, and shall not be subject to the provisions of any other law or charter relating to the authorization, issuance or sale of bonds or notes and may be issued without vote of the electors of the municipality. Bonds or notes issued under the provisions of this section are declared to be issued for an essential public and governmental purpose, and, together with interest thereon and income therefrom, shall be exempted from all taxes. Bonds or notes issued under this section shall not require as a condition precedent to their issuance approval of the municipal finance commission. Bonds or notes issued under this section shall be authorized by resolution or ordinance of the legislative body of the municipality and may be issued in one or more series and shall bear such dates, be payable at such times, bear interest at such rates, not exceeding 6% per annum, be in such denominations, be in such form either with or without coupons, carry such registration privileges, have such rank or priority, be executed in such manner, be payable in such medium of payment, at such places, and be subject to such terms of redemption, with or without premium, be secured in such manner, and have such other characteristics as may be provided by the resolution or ordinance. (6) Yards. A "rear yard" is an unoccupied space on the same lot with a dwelling, between the extreme rear line of the dwelling and the rear lot line and extending from 1 side lot line to the other side lot line. A "side yard" is an unoccupied space on the same lot with a dwelling between the side lot line and the nearest side line of the dwelling and extending from the extreme rear line of the dwelling to the front lot line. A "front yard" is an unoccupied space on the same lot with a dwelling between the extreme front line of the house and the front lot line and extending from 1 side yard to the other side yard.

(7) Courts. A "court" is an open unoccupied space on the same lot with a dwelling and bounded on 2 or more sides with the walls of the dwelling. A court not extending to the street or front or rear yard is an "inner court". A court extending to the street or front or rear yard is an "outer court".

(a) A "basement" is that portion of a building partly below grade but so located that the vertical distance from grade to the floor is not greater than the vertical distance from the grade to the ceiling: Provided, however, That if the vertical distance from the grade to the ceiling is 5 feet or more such basement shall be counted as a story.

(b) A "cellar" is that portion of a building partly below grade but so located that the vertical distance from the grade to the floor is greater than the vertical distance from the grade to the ceiling: Provided, however, That if the vertical distance from the grade to the ceiling is 5 feet or more such cellar shall be counted as a story. A cellar, except as provided above, shall not be counted as a story. If any portion of a building is in that part the equivalent of a basement or cellar, the provisions of this act relative to basements and cellars shall apply to such portion of the building.

(c) An attic is a portion of a building situated partly or wholly in the roof space. An attic which is used only as a portion of a single or 2 family dwelling shall be not counted as a story, unless there are more than 2 rooms suitable for living purposes on this floor. For the purpose of this paragraph, rooms of 160 square feet or more will be regarded as 2 or more rooms based on each 80 square feet being considered 1 room. Any attic which is occupied by a separate family shall be counted as a story. Any attic used for living purposes in a multiple dwelling shall be counted as a story.

(d) Penthouses. Penthouses are those portions of a building situated above the roof and housing mechanical equipment, service or recreational facilities or used for living purposes. A penthouse shall not be counted as a story if it houses only mechanical equipment or stairways and does not have an area in excess of 200 square feet; nor shall it be counted as a story, when occupied otherwise or when it has an area in excess of 200 square feet, if it complies with the following requirements:

(1) The building and penthouse shall be of fireproof construction if the penthouse houses other than mechanical equipment or stairways.

(2) The penthouse shall be not over 1 story in height.

(3) The exterior walls of the penthouse shall be set back from the exterior walls of the story immediately below by a distance not less than 2/3 of the height of the penthouse above the roof. However, it shall not be necessary to set back the exterior walls of a penthouse if the dimensions of yards and courts are sufficient to meet the requirements of this act for a building if the penthouse is counted as a story.

(4) There shall be access to 2 stairways leading from the roof to grade where penthouses are used for the purposes other than to house mechanical equipment.

(5) The combined area of all penthouses on a building shall not exceed 25 per cent of the gross area of the floor immediately below.

(13) Height. The "height" of a dwelling is the perpendicular distance measured in a straight line from grade to the highest point of the roof beams in the case of flat roofs, and to the average of the height of the gable in the case of pitched roofs.

(14) Grade. "Grade", for buildings adjoining 1 street only, shall be the elevation of the sidewalk at the center of that wall which adjoins the street, except that in case the average elevation of the ground (finished surface) adjacent to the exterior walls of the building is lower than the elevation of the sidewalk, "grade" shall be the average elevation of the ground.

"Grade", for buildings adjoining more than 1 street, shall be the elevation of the sidewalk at the center of the wall adjoining the street having the lowest sidewalk elevation.

"Grade", for buildings having no wall adjoining the street, shall be the average level of the ground (finished surface) adjacent to the exterior walls of the building.

All walls approximately parallel to and not more than 5 feet from a street line shall be considered as adjoining the street. In alleys the surface of the paving shall be considered to be the sidewalk elevation. Where the elevation of the sidewalk or alley paving has not been established the city engineer shall determine such elevation for the purpose of this act.

(15) Occupied spaces. Outside stairways, fire escapes, fire towers, porches, platforms, balconies, boiler flues and other projections shall be considered as part of the building and not as a part of the yards or courts or unoccupied spaces. This provision shall not apply to 1 fireplace or 1 chimney projecting not more than 12 inches into side yard space and not more than 8 feet in length, nor to uninclosed outside porches not exceeding 1 story in height which do not extend into the front or rear yard a greater distance than 12 feet from the front or rear walls of the building, nor to 1 such porch which does not extend into the sideyard a greater distance than 6 feet from the side wall of the building nor exceed 12 feet in its other horizontal dimension, or to cornices not exceeding 16 inches in width including the gutter.

(16) Fireproof dwelling. A "fireproof dwelling" is one the exterior walls of which are constructed of brick, stone, concrete, iron or other hard incombustible material not less than 8 inches thick, and in which there are no wood beams or lintels and in which the floors, roofs, stair halls and public halls are built entirely of brick, stone, concrete, iron or other hard incombustible material, and in which no woodwork or other inflammable material is used in any of the partitions, furrings or ceilings. But this definition shall not be construed as prohibiting elsewhere than in the public halls the use of wooden flooring on top of the fireproof floors or the use of wooden sleepers, nor as prohibiting the use of wood, or any other material not more combustible or inflammable than wood, for handrails, doors, windows, and decorative treatment on incombustible surfaces.

All metallic structural members, except lintels unattached to structural frame work and less than 6 feet in span, shall be protected with not less than 2 inches of brick, concrete, gypsum, terra cotta, or any other material that has equivalent properties to resist the action of flame and heat. Steel in reinforced concrete construction shall be protected with a minimum of 3/4 of an inch of concrete unless additional protection is required by the enforcing official.

In dwellings not over 8 stories in height, steel joists may be used for roof and floor construction if protected on the underside with 3/4 of an inch of gypsum or portland cement plaster on metal lath, thickness of said plaster to be measured from the back of the metal lath, and protected on top with a slab of at least 2 inches of concrete in which wood sleepers may be embedded if there is at least 1 and 1/2 inches of concrete under the sleepers.

(17) Wooden buildings. "Wooden building" is a building of which the exterior walls or a portion thereof are of wood. Court walls are exterior walls.

(18) Nuisance. The word "nuisance" shall be held to embrace public nuisance as known at common law or in equity jurisprudence; and whatever is dangerous to human life or detrimental to health; whatever dwelling is overcrowded with occupants or is not provided with adequate ingress and egress to or from the same, or is not sufficiently supported, ventilated, sewered, drained, cleaned or lighted, in reference to its intended or actual use; and whatever renders the air or human food or drink unwholesome, are also severally, in contemplation of this act, nuisances; and all such nuisances are hereby declared illegal.

(19) Construction of certain words. The word "shall" is always mandatory and not directory, and denotes that the dwelling shall be maintained in all respects according to the mandate as long as it continues to be a dwelling. Wherever the words "charter," "ordinances," "regulations," "superintendent of buildings," "health department," "the board of health," "health officer," or such other appropriate public official as the

Wherever the words "city water" are used in this act, they shall be construed as meaning any public supply of water through street mains; and wherever the words "public sewer" are used in this act they shall be construed as meaning any part of a system of sewers that is used by the public, whether or not such part was constructed at the public expense. Wherever the word "street" is used in this act it shall be construed as including any public alley 16 feet or more in width. "Approved fireproof material" means as set forth by ordinances, or if not so determined, as approved by the enforcing officer. Where a particular material, device, or type of construction is specified herein, there may be substituted therefor any other material, device or type of construction of a strength, durability, performance and fire resistive qualities, equivalent to the particular material, device or type of construction specified herein, or sufficient for the intended use, and approved as such by the enforcing officer. Perforated gypsum lath 3/8 of an inch thick, with 1/2 inch of gypsum plaster may be substituted wherever metal lath and gypsum or cement plaster is required in this act.

(20) Fire doors. A fire door is a movable fire resistive barrier placed on an opening in a masonry wall or shaft enclosure for the purpose of preventing the passage of fire through the opening. All fire doors, as installed and including frames and hardware shall be capable of passing a fire and water test as herein specified. The fire test shall consist of a flame applied over entire area of door which will gradually raise the temperature of the exposed side to 1400 degrees Fahrenheit during the first 20 minutes of test and which will gradually raise this temperature to 1700 degrees Fahrenheit during the next 40 minutes, concluding the fire test. Immediately thereafter and while the door is still hot, it shall be subjected to the impact of a stream of water under a nozzle pressure of 30 pounds per square inch through a 2 and 1/2 inch fire hose with a 1 and 1/8 inch smooth bore nozzle placed 20 feet from the door and played uniformly over surface of same for a period of at least 45 seconds. To pass this test, a fire door shall maintain its shape and integrity reasonably well so as to be capable of resisting the further application of flame and shall not develop serious structural weakness. The enforcing officer may require that the ability of all fire doors to pass these tests be demonstrated in a recognized testing laboratory, or that satisfactory evidence in the form

Sec. 12. Front and rear yards. Immediately behind every dwelling hereafter erected there shall be, except as hereinafter provided, a rear yard extending across the entire width of the lot. Such yard shall be at every point open and unobstructed from the ground to the sky except as hereinafter provided. Every part of such yard shall be directly accessible from every other part thereof. The depth of said yard shall be measured at right angles from the line of the extreme rear part of the dwelling. Any portion of a corner lot distant more than 100 feet from the corner line shall be treated as an interior lot. A front yard may be of any depth. The foregoing provisions of this section shall not apply to hotels.

The width of the side yard shall be proportionate to the height of the dwelling, and to the length of the side yard. Dwellings fronting on the same street and on a portion of a lot or plot without side lines of record shall be built so that the space between them shall conform to the combined side yard provisions specified in this section. Where the required light for any living room or bedroom is obtained from an inner court, such court shall have a minimum dimension twice that prescribed in this section for inner courts. This provision shall not apply to inner courts 1 story in height. An inner court adjoining a side yard of required size may be of any depth provided when such court of a depth less than the minimum is used to eliminate the increase in side yard width necessitated by the length of the dwelling, such courts shall have an area equal to 150 per cent of the area of a minimum size inner court permitted in the dwelling. The depth of an outer court shall never be greater than 5 times its width. A rectangular outer court bounded on 2 sides by legal yard spaces may be of any size and such court may be used to eliminate the increase in side yard width necessitated by the length of the dwelling provided its longest side is adjoining the side yard and it has an area equal to 150 per cent of the area of a minimum size inner court permitted in the dwelling. The horizontal depth of all courts adjoining the lot line shall be measured to the lot line and not to an opposite building. The minimum dimension of an inner court may be decreased in accordance with the following schedule, provided the area of the resulting court is 10 per cent greater than the square of the minimum dimensions above specified, and that the walls of such courts shall be faced or painted with a light colored material.

(2) A violation of this act shall not prevent the issuance of a certificate, but the enforcing agency shall not issue a certificate when the existing conditions constitute a hazard to the health or safety of those who may occupy the premises.

(3) Inspections shall be made prior to first occupancy of multiple dwellings and rooming houses, if the construction or alteration is completed and first occupancy will occur after the effective date of this article. Where first occupancy will occur before the effective date of this article, inspection shall be made within 1 year after the effective date of this article. Upon a finding that there is no condition that would constitute a hazard to the health and safety of the occupants, and that the premises are otherwise fit for occupancy, the certificate shall be issued. If the finding is of a condition that would constitute a hazard to health or safety, no certificate shall be issued, and an order to comply with the act shall be issued immediately and served upon the owner in accordance with section 132. On reinspection and proof of compliance, the order shall be rescinded and a certificate issued.

Sec. 130. (1) When a certificate is withheld pending compliance, no premises which have not been occupied for dwelling or rooming purposes shall be so occupied, and those premises which have been or are occupied for dwelling or rooming purposes may be ordered vacated until reinspection and proof of compliance in the discretion of the enforcing agency.

(2) A certificate of compliance shall be issued on condition that the premises remain in safe, healthful and fit condition for occupancy. If upon reinspection the enforcing agency determines that conditions exist which constitute a hazard to health or safety, the certificate shall be immediately suspended as to affected areas, and the areas may be vacated as provided in subsection (1).

(3) The duty to pay rent in accordance with the terms of any lease or agreement or under the provisions of any statute shall be suspended and the suspended rentals shall be paid into an escrow account as provided in subsection (4), during that period when the premises have not been issued a certificate of compliance, or when such certificate, once issued, has been suspended. This subsection does not apply until the owner has had a reasonable time after the effective date of this article or after notice of violations to make application for a temporary certificate, as provided in section 131. Nor does this subsection apply where the owner establishes that the conditions which constitute a hazard to health or safety were caused by the occupant or occupants. The rent, once suspended, shall again become due in accordance with the terms of the lease or agreement or statute from and after the time of reinstatement of the certificate, or where a temporary certificate has been issued, as provided in section 131.

(4) Rents due for the period during which rent is suspended shall be paid into an escrow account established by the enforcing officer or agency, to be paid thereafter to the landlord or any other party authorized to make repairs, to defray the cost of correcting the violations. The enforcing agency shall return any unexpended part of sums paid under this section, attributable to the unexpired portion of the rental period, where the occupant terminates his tenancy or right to occupy prior to the undertaking to repair.

125.534 Violations; failure to correct, court actions; injunction; service of complaint; decrees; removal or repair, lien.

Sec. 134. (1) If the owner or occupant fails to comply with the order contained in the notice of violation, the enforcing agency may bring an action to enforce the provisions of this act and to abate or enjoin the violation.

(2) An owner or occupant of the premises upon which any violation exists may bring an action to enforce the provisions of this act in his own name. Upon application by the enforcing agency, or upon motion of the party filing the complaint, the local enforcing agency may be substituted for, or joined with, the complainant in the discretion of the court.

(3) When the violation is uncorrected and creates an imminent danger to the health and safety of the occupants of the premises, the enforcing agency shall file a motion for a preliminary injunction or other temporary relief appropriate to remove such danger during the pendency of the action.

(4) Owners and lienholders of record or who are found by the complainant upon the exercise of reasonable diligence shall be served with a copy of the complaint and a summons. The complainant shall also file a notice of the pendency of the suit in the office of the register of deeds for the county in which the premises are located.

(5) The court, having obtained jurisdiction, shall make such orders and determinations as are consistent with the objectives of this act. The court may enjoin the maintenance of any unsafe, unhealthy or unsanitary condition, or any violations of this act, and may order the defendant to make repairs or corrections necessary to abate the conditions. The court may authorize the enforcing agency to make repairs or to remove the structure. When an occupant is not the cause of any unsafe, unhealthy or unsanitary condition, or any violation of this act, and is the complainant, the court may authorize the occupant to correct the violation and deduct the cost thereof from the rent upon such terms as the court determines to be just. Whenever the court shall find that said occupant is the cause of any unsafe, unhealthy or unsanitary condition, or any violation of this act, then the court may authorize the owner to correct the violation and assess the cost thereof against the occupant or his security deposit.

(6) No building shall be removed unless the cost of repair of the building will be greater than the state equalized value of the building.

(7) When the expenses of repair or removal are not otherwise provided for, the court may enter an order approving the expenses and providing that there shall be a lien on the real property for the payment thereof. The order may establish the priority of the lien and may provide that it shall be a lien senior to all other liens, except taxes and assessments; except that a mortgage of record having a recording date prior to all other liens of record shall retain its first priority if, at the time of recording of such mortgage or at any time subsequent thereto, a certificate of compliance as provided for in this article is in effect on the subject property. The order may also specify the time and manner for foreclosure of the lien if not satisfied. A true copy of the order shall be filed in the office of the register of deeds for the county where the real property is located within 10 days after entry thereof in order to perfect the lien granted in the order.

(3) The purpose of a receivership shall be to repair, renovate and rehabilitate the premises as needed to make the building comply with the provisions of this act, and where ordered by the court, to remove a building. The receiver shall promptly comply with the charge upon him in his official capacity and restore the premises to a safe, decent and sanitary condition, or remove the building.

(4) Subject to the control of the court the receiver shall have full and complete powers necessary to make the building comply with the provisions of this act. He may collect rents, and other revenue, hold them against the claim of prior assignees of such rents, and other revenue, and apply them to the expenses of making the building comply with the provisions of this act. He may manage and let rental units, issue receivership certificates, contract for all construction and rehabilitation as needed to make the building comply with the provisions of this act, and exercise other powers the court deems proper to the effective administration of the receivership.

When the condition is a continuing interference with the use and occupation of the premises, the occupant shall also have injunctive and other relief appropriate to the abatement of the condition.

(2) Remedies under this section shall be in addition to such other relief as may be obtained by seeking enforcement of the section authorizing suits by a local enforcement agency. The remedies shall be concurrent. When several remedies are available hereunder, the court may order any relief not inconsistent with the objectives of this act, and calculated to achieve compliance with it.

Sec. 2. It is declared that in the cities of the state substandard and insanitary areas exist which have resulted from inadequate planning, excessive land coverage, lack of proper light, air, and open space, pollution, neglect, defective design and arrangement of buildings, lack of proper sanitary facilities, and the existence of buildings, which, by reason of age, obsolescence, inadequate or outmoded design, or physical deterioration, have become economic or social liabilities, or both; that such conditions are prevalent in areas where substandard, insanitary, outworn or outmoded industrial, commercial or residential buildings and polluted and neglected water courses prevail, and are conducive to ill health, transmission of disease, infant mortality, juvenile delinquency, crime and poverty; that such conditions impair the economic value of large areas, infecting them with economic blight, and that such areas are characterized by depreciated values, impaired investments, and reduced capacity to pay taxes; that such conditions are chiefly in areas which are so subdivided into small parcels in divided ownerships and frequently with defective titles, that their assembly for purposes of clearance, replanning, rehabilitation and reconstruction is difficult and costly; that the existence of such conditions and the failure to clear, replan, rehabilitate or reconstruct these areas result in a loss of population in some areas, and congestion and overcrowding in other areas and further deterioration, accompanied by added costs to the communities for creation of new public facilities and services elsewhere; that it is difficult and uneconomic for individual owners independently to undertake to remedy such conditions; that it is desirable to encourage owners of property or holders of claims thereon in such areas to join together and with outsiders in corporate groups for the purpose of the clearance, replanning, rehabilitation, modernization, improvement and reconstruction of such areas by joint action; that it is necessary to create, with proper safeguards, inducements and opportunities for the employment of private investment and equity capital in the clearance, replanning, rehabilitation, modernization, improvement and reconstruction of such areas; that such conditions require the

3. A planning commission may approve a development plan, but no certificate of approval thereof shall be issued by it unless and until an application for approval has been filed with it, together with the development plan, and unless and until the planning commission shall determine:

(a) That the area within which the development area is included is substandard or insanitary or is polluted or neglected and that the redevelopment of the development area in accordance with the development plan is necessary or advisable to effectuate the public purposes declared in section 2;

(b) That the development plan is in accord with the master plan, or city map, if any, of the city;

(c) That the development area is of sufficient size to allow its redevelopment in an efficient and economically satisfactory manner;

(d) That the various stages, if any, by which the development is proposed to be constructed or undertaken, as stated in the development plan, are practicable and in the public interest;

Any such determination shall be conclusive evidence of the facts so determined except upon proof of fraud or wilful misfeasance. In arriving at such determination, the planning commission shall consider only those elements of the development plan relevant to such determination under subparagraphs (a) through (g) of this paragraph 3 of section 4 and to the type of development which is physically desirable for the development area concerned from a city planning viewpoint, and from a neighborhood unit viewpoint if the development plan provides that the development area is to be primarily residential. Any such determination shall be conclusive evidence of the facts so determined except upon proof of fraud or wilful misfeasance. In considering whether or not a certificate of approval of the development plan shall be issued, the supervising agency shall consider only those elements of the development plan relevant to such determination under subparagraphs (a) and (b) of this paragraph 4 of section 4. Upon approval of a development plan by the supervising agency, it shall forthwith issue a certificate of approval thereof.

(c) Proof that certificates of approval of the development plan required by section 4 have been issued.

The supervising agency shall determine within a reasonable time thereafter the truth or sufficiency of the statements and proof contained in such petition, and, if such determination shall be in the affirmative, the supervising agency shall issue to the petitioner a certificate of approval of condemnation. Such certificate shall contain a description of the real property proposed to be condemned, the facts so determined with respect thereto, and a statement that the real property proposed to be condemned is required for a public use and that its acquisition for such use is necessary. No condemnation proceeding to acquire real property in a development area, by a city for a redevelopment corporation, shall be commenced until such a certificate of approval of condemnation shall have been issued.

Institution of proceedings.

2. Condemnation proceedings for a redevelopment corporation shall be initiated by a petition to the city to institute proceedings to acquire for the redevelopment corporation any real property in the development area. Such petition shall be granted or rejected by the local legislative body, and the resolution or resolutions granting such petition shall contain a requirement that the redevelopment corporation shall pay to the city all sums expended or required to be expended by the city in the acquisition of such real property, together with all costs incurred by the city, and the time of payment and manner of securing payment thereof, and may require that the city shall receive, before proceeding with the acquisition of such real property, such assurances as to payment or reimbursement by the redevelopment corporation, or otherwise, as the city may deem advisable. Upon the passage of a resolution or resolutions by the local legislative body, granting the petition, the redevelopment corporation shall cause to be made 3 copies of surveys or maps of the real property described in the petition, 1 of which shall be filed in the office of the redevelopment corporation, 1 in the office of the corporation counsel or chief law officer of the city, and 1 in the office in which instruments affecting real property in the county are recorded. The filing of such copies of surveys or maps shall constitute the acceptance by the redevelopment corporation of the terms and conditions contained in such ordinance or ordinances. The city shall proceed under any provision of any general, special or local law applicable to the condemnation of real property for public improvements. When title to the real property shall have vested in the city, it shall convey the same to the redevelopment corporation upon payment by the redevelopment corporation of the sums and the giving of the security required by the resolution granting the petition. As soon as title shall have vested in the city, the redevelopment corporation may, upon the authorization of the local legislative body enter upon the real property taken, take over and dispose of existing improvements, and carry out the terms of the development plan with respect thereto.

Assessment of compensation and damages.

3. The following provisions shall apply to any proceedings for the assessment of compensation and damages for real property in a development area taken or to be taken by condemnation for a redevelopment corporation:

(a) Evidence of the price and other terms upon any sale, offer to sell, or the rent received or reserved, whichever is less, and other terms upon any sales option, lease or tenancy relating to any of the real property taken or to be taken or to any comparable real property in the vicinity when the option, sale, offer or lease was given, occurred or the tenancy existed, within a reasonable time of the trial, shall be admissible on direct examination;

(b) Any time during the pendency of such action or proceeding, the redevelopment corporation, the city or any owner may apply to the court for an order directing any owner, the redevelopment corporation, or the city, as the case may be, to show cause why further proceedings should not be expedited, and the court may upon such application make an order requiring that the hearings proceed and that any other steps be taken with all possible expedition;

(c) For the purposes of this act, the award of compensation shall not be increased by reason of any increase in the value of the real property caused by the assembly, clearance or reconstruction, or proposed assembly, clearance or reconstruction for the purposes of this act of the real property in the development area. No allowance shall be made for the improvements begun on real property after notice to the owner of such property of the institution of the proceedings to condemn such property;

(d) Evidence shall be admissible bearing upon the insanitary, unsafe or substandard condition of the premises, or the illegal use thereof, or the enhancement of rentals from such illegal use, and such evidence may be considered in fixing the compensation to be paid, notwithstanding that no steps to remedy or abate such conditions have been taken by the department or officers having jurisdiction. If a violation order is on file against the premises in any such department, it shall constitute prima facie evidence of the existence of the condition specified in such order;

(e) If any of the real property in the development area which is to be acquired by condemnation has, prior to such acquisition, been devoted to another public use, it may nevertheless be acquired provided that no real property belonging to the city or to any other governmental body, or agency or instrumentality thereof, corporate or otherwise, may be acquired without its consent;

(f) Upon the trial, evidence of the price and other terms upon a sale or assignment or of a contract for the sale or assignment of a mortgage, award, proposed award, transfer of a tax lien or lien of a judgment relating to property taken, shall be relevant, material and competent, upon the issue of value or damage and shall be admissible on direct examination;

(g) Upon the trial a statement, affidavit, deposition, report, transcript of testimony in an action or proceeding, or appraisal made or given by any owner or prior owner of the premises taken, or by any person on his behalf, to any court, governmental bureau, department or agency respecting the value of the real property for tax purposes, shall be relevant, material and competent upon the issue of value of damage and shall be admissible on direct examination;

(h) The term "owner," as used in this section, shall include a person having an estate, interest or easement in the real property to be acquired or a lien, charge or encumbrance thereon.

Upon receipt of such report from the state treasurer the governor may, if he deems it necessary and advisable for the state to contract debts or borrow money, file a copy of said report with the clerk of the board of state auditors and attach thereto his recommendation in regard to the action which he deems it advisable to be taken. 134.8 Notes declared general obligations; previous validations continued in force.

134.1 Tax anticipation notes.

Sec. 1. Any municipality may, by resolution of its governing body, and without a vote of the electors, but subject to the prior permission of the commission, borrow money and issue its notes in anticipation of the collection of the taxes for its then next succeeding fiscal year, or the taxes for a current fiscal year, in accordance with the provisions of this chapter.

HISTORY: CL 1948, 134.1.

134.2 Tax anticipation notes; uses, limitation; newly incorporated city or village, limitations, certification by supervisor; amount set aside, purpose; deficiency in funds; capital improvements; limitation.

Sec. 2. Where the borrowing is made in anticipation of the collection of the taxes for a next succeeding fiscal year the resolution authorizing such a loan shall contain an irrevocable provision for the levying of a tax in such year for the purpose for which such loan is to be made and the repayment of such loan from the receipts of such taxes. The proceeds of such borrowing shall be used only for the payment of operating expenses and/or capital improvements as hereinafter provided.

(a) Where the money so borrowed is for operating it shall be used only for the purpose of paying such necessary operating expenses of the municipality as could not reasonably have been foreseen and adequately provided for in the tax levy for the then current fiscal year. The amount permitted to be so borrowed for this purpose shall not exceed 50 per centum of the operating tax levy for the current fiscal year, or if the operating tax levy for the next succeeding fiscal year shall have been determined, then 50 per centum of such levy. The total amount permitted to be so borrowed by a newly incorporated city or village, to which the foregoing limitations are not applicable, shall not exceed a total of 1/4 of 1 per cent of the assessed value of all real and personal property located in such city or village according to the last assessment roll of the township or townships from which or in which such city or village was incorporated, which assessed value shall be certified to the city or village and to the municipal finance commission by the supervisor of each of the said townships: Provided, That such borrowing shall be limited to the first 12 months of the existence of such city or village. The authorizing resolution shall provide that from the first collections of the taxes for the next succeeding fiscal year there shall be set aside in a special fund to be used for the payment of principal of and interest on said notes that percentage of such collections which the tax levied for operating bears to the total levy, until the amount so set aside shall be sufficient for such payment, and collections of such taxes to be so set aside shall be used for no other purpose. Whenever in the opinion of the commission borrowing for this purpose will result in a deficiency in the funds available to pay the necessary operating expenses of the next succeeding fiscal year, it shall require that the municipality levy additional taxes in the future to prevent a continuation of such deficit from year to year.

(b) Where the money so borrowed is for capital improvement it shall be used only for the payment of 1 or more such capital improvements as can be legally and properly provided for in the budget of the municipality for such fiscal year. The amount permitted to be so borrowed for this purpose shall not exceed the sum or sums provided in the authorizing resolution to be levied for such improvement or improvements. If the applicant be a municipality subject to the provisions of section 21 of article 10 of the constitution, the commission shall not issue its order granting permission to borrow such money and issue the proposed notes unless it shall be made to appear that such municipality has voted an increase in the tax rate limitation in an amount necessary to permit a levy of taxes, the collection of which will be sufficient to meet the interest and principal requirements of the proposed notes. The authorizing resolution shall provide that from the first collections of the taxes for the next succeeding fiscal year there shall be set aside in a special fund to be used for the payment of principal of and interest on said notes that percentage of such collections which the tax levied for capital outlay bears to the total levy, and until the amount so set aside shall be sufficient for such payment, collections of such taxes to be so set aside shall be used for no other purpose.

134.3 Tax anticipation notes; use; limitation; capital improvement; fund set aside, purpose.

Sec. 3. Where the borrowing is made in anticipation of the collection of the taxes for a current fiscal year, the proceeds of such borrowing shall be used only for the payment of operating expenses, debt service charges and/or capital improvements as hereinafter provided.

(a) Where the money so borrowed is for the payment of operation or debt service charges the amount which may be borrowed shall be limited to 75 per centum of the amount of such debt service taxes (if the borrowing is to pay debt service charges) or such operating taxes (if the borrowing is to pay operating expenses) as shall have been provided for in the budget of the current fiscal year and which remains unpaid at the time of passage of the authorizing resolution: Provided, That if such resolution shall be passed before the day upon which taxes for such year become due and payable, such loan shall not exceed 50 per centum of the tax levy made for debt service or operating, as the case may be, for the preceding fiscal year. The authorizing resolution shall provide that from the first collections of the taxes for the current fiscal year there shall be set aside in a special fund to be used for the payment of principal and interest on said notes that percentage of such collections which the tax levied for debt service or operating, as the case may be, bears to the total levy, and until the amount so set aside shall be sufficient for such payment, collections of such taxes to be so set aside shall be used for no other purpose.

(b) Where the money so borrowed is for the payment of capital improvement the sum or sums so borrowed shall be used only for the payment of 1 or more such capital improvements as have been legally and properly provided for in the tax budget of the current fiscal year. The amount permitted to be so borrowed for this purpose shall not exceed the anticipated collection (based on the delinquency in collections of the levy of the preceding fiscal year) of the sum or sums included in the tax budget for such purpose or purposes and remaining unpaid at the time of the passage of the authorizing resolution. If the applicant be a municipality subject to the provisions of section 21 of article X of the constitution, the commission shall not issue its order granting permission to issue the proposed notes unless it shall be made to appear that the allocation board has approved a tax rate that will permit the levy of a tax the collection of which will be sufficient to repay such borrowing or that such municipality has voted

HISTORY: CL 1948, 137.1.

137.1a Tax levies; where included; surplus moneys; moneys remaining in debt retirement fund, period hold, transfer; portion set aside, division.

Sec. 1a. Whenever any municipality shall have outstanding any bonds, refunding bonds, notes or certificates of indebtedness payable from taxes, it shall be the duty of every officer or official body charged with any duty in connection with the determination of the amount of taxes to be raised or with the levying of such taxes, to include in the amount of taxes levied each year:

If at the time of making any annual tax levy, there be surplus moneys on hand for the payment of principal or interest, and no provision shall have been made in the bond resolution for the disposition thereof, then credit therefor may be taken upon such annual levy for principal or interest as the case may be.

Any moneys remaining in a debt retirement fund or on account within such a fund after the retirement of all bonds payable therefrom shall remain in such fund for a period of 2 years after such retirement unless previous approval to transfer such funds shall have been authorized by the municipal finance commission: Provided, That such remaining moneys may be transferred within said 2 year period upon resolution of the governing body with prior approval of the municipal finance commission, regardless of the requirements of any other statute.

To prevent a deficiency in the sinking fund available for the payment of any term bonds, the commission may from time to time prescribe an amount to be levied in excess of the amounts required by any law, charter, ordinance or resolution, in order that the principal of such term bonds may be paid when due, and the commission may from time to time revise its determination in such regard.

As taxes are collected there shall be set aside that portion of such collections which is allocable to the payment of the principal and interest on said obligations and the portion so set aside shall be divided pro rata among the various sinking funds and debt retirement funds in accordance with the amount levied therefor. All such tax collections paid into any such debt retirement fund shall, if such fund is for the payment of more than 1 issue of obligations, be allocated on the books and records of the municipality between the various issues in accordance with the amounts levied therefor. No limitation in any statute or charter shall prevent the levy and collection of the full amount of taxes required by this section for the payment of debts, but nothing herein shall authorize the levy of a tax for any other purpose exceeding the existing statutory or charter tax limitation. Any officer who wilfully fails to perform the duties required of him by this section shall be personally liable to the municipality or to any bondholder for any loss or damage arising from such failure.

137.1b Separation and use of debt retirement fund.

Sec. 1b. All debt retirement funds shall be kept separate from each other and separate from all other moneys of the municipality and shall be used only to retire the funded indebtedness of the municipality for which such debt retirement fund was created.

Sec. 1c. Whenever any municipality shall have completed the retirement of any outstanding bonds, refunding bonds, notes or certificates of indebtedness or shall have sufficient funds in the debt retirement fund to retire said obligation payable from taxes prior to the final levy of any tax voted to retire the outstanding debt, the governing body of the municipality shall certify the completed retirement of the outstanding debt or the sufficiency of funds to retire said debt to the commission. The commission, when it has satisfied itself that the debt has been retired or that sufficient funds are available in the debt retirement fund for which any voted tax has been authorized and that there is no longer any need for the extra voted tax, shall certify the fact to the county treasurer of the county in which the municipality is located and the treasurer shall no longer be required to include the extra voted tax in any notice or statement required under section 3 of Act No. 62 of the Public Acts of 1933, as amended, being section 211.203 of the Compiled Laws of 1948. 137.2 Sinking fund; provisions governing; investment, sale.

Sec. 2. All sinking funds created for the retirement of term obligations other than refunding bonds and certificates of indebtedness shall be subject to the provisions of this section. All such funds shall be kept separate from each other and separate from all other moneys of the municipality, and shall be used only to retire the obligations of the municipality for which such sinking funds, respectively, were created: Provided, That any municipality investing in its securities only, shall not be required to segregate funds as to each issue as above provided. The commission in order to assure the adequacy of such sinking funds, shall from time to time review the sworn statements required to be filed in accordance with the provisions of section 5 of chapter III hereof, and if upon such review the commission shall determine any such sinking fund to be inadequate, it shall order such municipality to provide in the tax levy for the next succeeding year or years an amount or amounts which will be sufficient to make such sinking fund adequate. The money belonging to any such sinking fund may be invested in the obligations to which it pertains, or in such obligations of the municipality, the state of Michigan, or the United States of America, as pledge the full faith and credit of the issuer for the payment thereof, and any such funds not so invested shall be deposited in any bank or trust company authorized to do business in this state: Provided, That when a municipality shall purchase for any such sinking fund, obligations for the payment of which such fund was created then such obligations shall be immediately cancelled. Any municipality holding obligations in its sinking funds may without permission from the commission sell the same at any time in its discretion, and use the proceeds for the purpose for which the sinking fund was established, or reinvest the same in accordance herewith. Nothing herein contained shall compel the sale of any security now held in any sinking fund.

137.3 Sinking fund; retirement of term refunding bonds or certificates of indebtedness; tenders; advertising.

Sec. 3. Any municipality issuing term refunding bonds or certificates of indebtedness under the provisions of chapter VI hereof shall provide a sinking fund or funds for the retirement thereof, and there shall be deposited in each such sinking fund annually such amounts as shall be sufficient to pay the principal of such bonds or certificates of indebtedness at or before maturity, but such deposits may vary from year to year and may be omitted in any year or years, if the refunding proceedings so provide and the commission so approves. All sinking fund moneys for the retirement of refunding bonds or certificates of indebtedness shall be kept separate from each other and from all other moneys of the municipality and shall be used for no purpose except for the payment or purchase of such refunding bonds or certificates of indebtedness. From time to time, when the balance in the sinking fund for the retirement of any issue of refunding bonds or certificates of indebtedness shall warrant, the municipality shall advertise for tenders thereof at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the state of Michigan which carries as a part of its regular service notices of the sale of

All tenders of bonds and certificates of indebtedness shall be presented to the municipality in writing and sealed and shall comply with any reasonable terms specified in the notice. The municipality shall open and examine such tenders, and shall accept the tender or tenders stipulating the lowest price or prices at which the owners of such bonds or certificates of indebtedness will sell the same to the sinking fund, up to the amount of the available balance of the sinking fund: Provided, That no tenders shall be accepted at a price in excess of the par value and accrued interest of such bonds or certificates of indebtedness without the approval of the commission. All refunding bonds or certificates of indebtedness so purchased shall be cancelled. If no tenders of bonds or certificates of indebtedness be received, and if the bonds or certificates of indebtedness be redeemable before maturity, then the municipality shall proceed with the redemption of such bonds or certificates of indebtedness to the extent of the available moneys in the sinking fund for the retirement of such bonds or certificates of indebtedness. No investment shall be made of any such balance, however, until tenders of bonds or certificates have been solicited as above provided.

Sec. 20. Where a borrower has outstanding any bonds issued under the provisions of this act, it may thereafter issue and negotiate new bonds under this act for the purpose of providing for the retirement of such outstanding bonds, in whole or in part. Such new bonds shall be designated "revenue refunding bonds," and except as in the refunding ordinance otherwise provided shall be secured to the same extent and shall have the same source of payment as the bonds which have been thereby refunded. Such refunding bonds may be issued to include the amount of any premium to be paid upon the calling of the bonds to be refunded or if such bonds are not callable, any premium necessary to be paid in order to secure the surrender of the bonds to be refunded: Provided, That the amount of premium so included shall not in either case exceed 5 per centum of the principal amount of the bonds to be refunded. Nothing in this section shall be construed as providing for the refunding of non-callable unmatured bonds without the consent of the holder or holders thereof. Any such refunding bonds may be sold as provided in section 12 of this act or may be exchanged for the obligations to be refunded thereby, and if sold, the proceeds shall be deposited in a bank or trust company in a special trust account to be used only for the redemption or purchase of such outstanding bonds. Where refunding bonds are to be issued and sold for the purpose of refunding unmatured non-callable bonds, the latter must be surrendered and cancelled at the time of the delivery to the purchaser of such refunding bonds.

revenues of such combined public improvement to the payment of revenue bonds issued to defray the cost of purchasing, acquiring, constructing, improving, enlarging, extending and/or repairing the whole or any part of such combined public improvement. Whenever any public corporation shall determine to issue any bonds under this act and pledge thereto the revenues of a public improvement or a combined public improvement, if there shall be outstanding bonds pledging the revenues of such public improvement or any unit or units of such combined public improvement, then such new bonds may be issued subject to such prior pledge, or may include an amount sufficient to retire such outstanding bonds, and to the extent that they are issued for such retirement, they shall be subject to the provisions of section 20 of this act, except that in lieu of being designated as refunding bonds, such new bonds shall recite the extent to which they refund outstanding obligations.

HISTORY: Add. 1943, p. 356, Act 219, Imd. Eff. April 20;—Am. 1946, 1st Ex. Ses., p. 52, Act 23, Eff. June 7;—CL 1948, 141.120a.

141.120b Revenue bonds to retire outstanding bonds; validity, premium, sale or exchange.

Sec. 20b. Where any township, city or village has outstanding any bonds issued for acquiring or constructing water works, water mains, water supply systems, sewers or sewage disposal systems, or for refunding any such bonds, whether such bonds are payable from revenues, special assessments and/or taxes, it may thereafter issue revenue bonds under this act for the purpose of retiring any such outstanding bonds. In case any city or village shall have issued refunding bonds, including in a single series, bonds for 1 or more of the purposes aforesaid together with bonds for other purposes, the governing body may designate by number and amount the refunding bonds of said series which represent the original bonds issued for the aforesaid designated purposes, and may refund the bonds so designated by the issuance of revenue refunding bonds under this act. Such revenue refunding bonds shall be valid notwithstanding any defect in the proceedings for the issuance of the bonds refunded or for the acquisition of the public improvement, if at the time of refunding such improvement can be acquired and revenue bonds issued therefor, under this act. Insofar as the provisions of this act shall be applicable thereto, such new bonds shall be authorized in the same manner, shall be subject to the same conditions, shall be secured to the same extent and shall have the same source of payment as other bonds issued under this act for like improvements. Such bonds may include the amount of the premium to be paid on the calling of such outstanding bonds, or if such bonds be not callable, the premium necessary to be paid in order to secure the surrender of such bonds, which premium shall not in any case exceed 5 per centum of the principal amount. Where revenue refunding bonds are to be issued, the amount due upon any bond or bonds to be refunded, may be reduced by consent of the holder or holders thereof, and refunding bonds issued for the reduced amount. Nothing in this section shall be construed as providing for the retirement of noncallable unmatured bonds without the consent of the holder or holders thereof. Any such bonds may be exchanged for the outstanding bonds, or may be sold as provided in section 12 of this act, and if sold, the proceeds shall be deposited in a bank or trust company in a special trust account to be used only for the redemption or purchase of such outstanding bonds. Where refunding bonds are to be issued and sold for the purpose of refunding noncallable unmatured bonds, the latter must be surrendered and cancelled at the time of the delivery to the purchaser of such refunding bonds.

141.120c Parking revenue bonds; special assessments on benefited properties.

Sec. 20c. When a borrower has outstanding any parking revenue bonds issued under the provisions of this act, it may thereafter levy special assessments against properties specially benefited by the parking facilities originally financed by the bonds, but no assessment shall be made at large, and may issue special assessment bonds therefor in anticipation of the payment of the special assessments for the purpose of providing for the retirement of the outstanding bonds in whole or in part. The special assessment bonds may pledge the full faith and credit of the public corporation issuing them, as determined by the governing body of the public corporation. The special assessment bonds may be issued to include the amount of any premium to be paid upon the calling of the parking revenue bonds to be refunded or if such bonds are not callable, any premium necessary to be paid in order to secure the surrender of the bonds to be refunded; but the amount of the premium so included shall not exceed 5% of the principal amount of the bonds to be refunded. 141.121 Rates for service; delinquent charges a lien, enforcement.

Sec. 21. Rates for services furnished by any such public improvement shall be fixed precedent to the issuance of the bonds. Such rates shall be sufficient to provide for the payment of the expenses of administration and operation and such expenses for the maintenance of the public improvement as may be necessary to preserve the same in good repair and working order; to provide for the payment of the interest upon and the principal of all bonds payable therefrom, as and when the same become due and payable, and for the creation of any reserve therefor as required in the ordinance; and to provide for such other expenditures and funds for the public improvement as the ordinance may require. Such rates shall be fixed and revised from time to time by the governing body of the borrower so as to produce these amounts, and the borrower shall covenant and agree in the ordinance authorizing the issuance of such bonds and on the face of each bond to maintain at all times such rates for services furnished by such public improvement as shall be sufficient to provide for the foregoing. Charges for water service and sewage disposal services furnished to any premises shall be a lien thereon, and any such charges delinquent for 6 months or more shall be certified annually to the proper tax assessing officer or agency who shall enter the same upon the next tax roll against the premises to which such services shall have been rendered, and said charges shall be collected and said lien shall be enforced in the same manner as provided for the collection of taxes assessed upon such roll and the enforcement of the lien therefor. The time and manner of certification and other details in respect to the collection of such charges and the enforcement of such lien shall be prescribed by the ordinance adopted by the governing body of the public corporation: Provided, That in all cases when a tenant is responsible for the payment of any such charge and the governing body is so notified in writing, such notice to include a true copy of the lease of the affected premises, if there be one, then no such charge shall become a lien against the said premises from and after the date of such notice. 141.122 Disposition of revenues; funds.

Sec. 22. In the authorizing ordinance the governing body of the borrower shall pledge the revenues of the public improvement for the purposes of the following funds and shall provide that such revenues as collected shall be set aside in a receiving fund and transferred periodically as provided in such ordinance into separate and special funds as follows:

(a) Out of the revenues in the receiving fund there shall be first set aside a sum sufficient to provide for the payment for the next succeeding period of all current expenses of administration, operation, and such current expenses for such period for maintenance as may be necessary to preserve the public improvement in good repair and working order. This fund shall be designated "operation and maintenance fund."

(b) Out of the remaining revenues in the receiving fund there shall be next set aside a sum sufficient to provide for the payment of the principal of and the interest upon all bonds payable therefrom, as and when the same become due and payable. This fund shall be designated "bond and interest redemption fund." In the event that the revenues of any operating year over and above those necessary for the operation and maintenance fund, shall be insufficient to pay the principal of and interest on the bonds maturing in any such operating year, then an additional amount sufficient to pay such principal and interest shall be set aside out of the revenues of the next succeeding operating year, after the setting aside of the operation and maintenance fund. In respect to the allocation and use of moneys in said bond and interest redemption fund, due recognition shall be given as to priority rights, if any, between different issues or series of outstanding bonds.

The public corporation may provide by ordinance that a reasonable excess amount shall be set aside in the bond and interest redemption fund from time to time so as thereby to produce and provide a reserve to meet any possible future deficiencies therein.

(c) Out of the remaining revenues in the receiving fund there shall be next set aside, in the manner and priority provided by the ordinance, the sum or sums necessary for such additional funds for the public improvement as the ordinance may establish. Revenues remaining in the receiving fund, after satisfaction of the above, at the end of any operating year shall be deemed to be surplus and shall be disposed of by the governing body as hereinafter provided.

141.123 Payment of operating expenses from other sources.

Sec. 23. Nothing in this act shall be construed to prohibit the borrower from appropriating and using any part of its available income or revenues derived from any source other than from the operation of such public improvement in paying any immediate expenses of operation or maintenance of any such public improvement, but nothing in this act shall be construed to require the borrower to do so.

"In-city" percentages of property, payrolls and sales, separately computed, shall be determined in accordance with sections 21 to 24.

HISTORY: New 1964, p. 544, Act 284, Imd. Eff. Jun. 12.

141.622 Partial business activity in city; percentage of compensation paid employees.

Sec. 22. Second, the taxpayer shall ascertain the percentage which the total compensation paid to employees for work done or for services performed within the city is of the total compensation paid to all the taxpayer's employees within and without the city during the period covered by the return. For allocation purposes, compensation shall be computed on the cash or accrual basis in accordance with the method used in computing the entire net income of the taxpayer.

If an employee performs services within and without the city, the following examples are not all inclusive but may serve as a guide for determining the amount to be treated as compensation for services performed within the city:

(a) In the case of an employee compensated on a time basis, the proportion of the total amount received by him which his working time within the city is of his total working time.

(b) In the case of an employee compensated directly on the volume of business secured by him, such as a salesman on a commission basis, the amount received by him for business attributable to his efforts in the city.

(c) In the case of an employee compensated on other results achieved, the proportion of the total compensation received which the value of his services within the city bears to the value of all his services.

HISTORY: New 1964, p. 544, Act 284, Imd. Eff. Jun. 12.

141.623 Partial business activity in city; percentage of gross revenue.

Sec. 23. Third, the taxpayer shall ascertain the percentage which the gross revenue of the taxpayer derived from sales made and services rendered in the city is of the total gross revenue from sales and services wherever made or rendered during the period covered by the return.

(1) For the purposes of this section, "sales made in the city" means all sales where the goods, merchandise or property is received in the city by the purchaser, or a person or firm designated by him. In the case of delivery of goods in the city to a common or private carrier or by other means of transportation, the place at which the delivery has been completed is considered as the place at which the goods are received by the purchaser.

The following examples are not all inclusive but may serve as a guide for determining sales made in the city:

(a) Sales to a customer in the city with shipments to a destination within the city from a location in the city or an out-of-city location are considered sales made in the city.

(b) Sales to a customer in the city with shipments to a destination within the city directly from the taxpayer's in-city supplier or out-of-city supplier are considered sales made in the city.

(c) Sales to a customer in the city with shipments directly to the customer at his regularly maintained and established out-of-city location are considered out-of-city sales.

(d) Sales to an out-of-city customer with shipments or deliveries to the customer's location within the city are considered sales made in the city.

(e) Sales to an out-of-city customer with shipments to an out-of-city destination are considered out-of-city sales.

(2) In the case of public utilities, or businesses furnishing transportation services, "gross revenue" for the purposes of this section may be measured by such means as operating revenues, vehicle miles, revenue miles, passenger miles, ton miles, tonnage, or such other method as shall reasonably measure the proportion of gross revenue obtained in the city by such business.

(3) In case the business of the taxpayer involves substantial business activities other than sales of goods and services such other method or methods of allocation shall be employed as shall reasonably measure the proportion of gross revenue obtained in the city by such business.

HISTORY: New 1964, p. 544, Act 284, Imd. Eff. Jun. 12.

141.624 Partial business activity in city; business allocation percentage.

Sec. 24. Fourth, the taxpayer shall add the percentages determined in accordance with sections 21, 22 and 23 and divide the total by 3 and the result so obtained is the business allocation percentage. In determining this percentage, a factor shall be excluded from the computation only when the factor does not exist anywhere insofar as the taxpayer's business operation is concerned and, in such case, the total of the percentages shall be divided by the number of factors actually used. The business allocation percentage shall be applied to the entire net profits, wherever derived, of the taxpayer subject to the tax to determine the net profits allocable to the city.

HISTORY: New 1964, p. 545, Act 284, Imd. Eff. Jun. 12;—Am. 1969, p. 87, Act 42, Imd. Eff. Jul. 17.

141.625 Partial business activity in city; substitute methods.

Sec. 25. An alternative method of accounting shall be used if the taxpayer or the administrator demonstrates that the net profits of the taxpayer allocable to the city cannot be justly and equitably determined under the separate accounting method or the business allocation percentage method, or if undue expense to the taxpayer would result from complying therewith because of the taxpayer's manner of operations and methods of accounting. In such case the administrator, upon application of the taxpayer or upon his own initiative, may approve or specify factors or methods of determination as will effect a just, nondiscriminatory and reasonable result. Application to the administrator to substitute other factors in the formula or to use a different method to allocate net profits shall be made in writing and state the specific grounds on which the substitution of factors or use of a different method is requested and the relief sought. No specific form need be followed in making the application. Once a taxpayer has filed under a substitute method, he shall continue so to file until given permission by the administrator to change.

Sec. 26. (1) Capital gains and capital losses, other than gains and losses on securities issued by the government of the United States, shall be included in income only to the extent of that portion of the gains or losses which occur after the effective date of this ordinance. In determining the amount of gain or loss, the taxpayer may use net proceeds from the sale or exchange less fair market value as of the effective date of this ordinance. The fair market value of property shall be determined by an appraisal or similar reliable evidence. The fair market value of a security shall be the last quoted price on the last business day prior to the effective date. For a security traded over the

Sec. 41. A person having a tax liability under this ordinance in any year shall make and file with the city an annual return for that year, on a form furnished or approved by the city, on or before the last day of the fourth month for the same calendar year, fiscal year or other accounting period, as has been accepted by the internal revenue service for federal income tax purposes for the taxpayer. An individual taxpayer is not required to file an annual return if the amount of tax due under this ordinance does not exceed the amount withheld by more than $2.00. A husband and wife may file a joint return and, in such case, the tax liability is joint and several.

141.643 Tax; payment, refund.

Sec. 43. Any balance of the tax which is due the city at the time of filing the annual return shall be paid therewith. If the annual return reflects an overpayment of the tax, the declaration thereof on the return constitutes a claim for refund and the overpayment shall be applied against any subsequent liability thereunder or, at the election of the taxpayer and when so indicated on the return, the overpayment or any part shall be refunded.

The fact that a taxpayer is not required to file a federal income tax return does not relieve him from filing a city tax return.

141.645 Net profits; consolidated returns.

Sec. 45. The proposed assessment shall be served upon the taxpayer or employer in person, or by mailing by registered or certified mail to the last known address of the taxpayer or employer. Proof of mailing the proposed assessment is prima facie evidence of a receipt thereof by the addressee.
